🎯 PERSONAL PROFILE

I am a fourth-year Software Engineering student with high motivation and a results-oriented mindset, passionate about programming. I have a solid foundation in backend development principles and programming languages, especially Java and Spring Boot. I am always eager to learn new technologies and contribute to a development team. Passionate about building robust and scalable backend systems, I am seeking a fresher position or an internship in Java development. Always open to learning and improving my skills to become a better software engineer.
